

Laura: I have to buy a new laptop. The new MacBook looks great.

Jimmy: A new laptop! Perfect!

David: Good choice, Laura! Do you know how much it costs?

Laura: Yeah, I do. I think I need a sponsor.

Jimmy: A sponsor? Who?

David: So, you want a Macbook, but you don't have the money for it? How about saving a bit first?

Laura: Come on, Dave. I need it now. I can't wait. My old laptop is terribly old!

David: Ok, but you don't have enough cash! How about your Dad? Have you asked him?

Laura: Yeah! He said I could have something cheaper instead...

David: So would he buy you something cheaper?

Laura: Yeah, but I want a Macbook. Dad said I could borrow the money from him like from a bank. He told me I should make a contract and tell him how much I will pay every month and for how long!

David: Wow! Well, he is an accountant, right?

Laura: Yeah, he said he would like to make me think about money a bit more. That I should prepare a budget...

David: Laura, do you really need a Macbook? It will put you in debt for a long time.

Laura: It's not a debt, it's an investment!

Jimmy: Yeah, it's a Macbook!

-----

Can Laura buy a Macbook?

What did her father tell her?

Is it a debt or an investment?

What do you think?